The Holly Library webpage is your gateway to quality information resources.
There is a link to the Holly Library webpage from the A-B Tech homepage.
Use the Find Books and DVDs link to search for materials in the Holly Library collection.
The Articles Quick Search link takes you to Academic Search Complete, the largest of the NC Live databases with thousands of articles on a variety of subjects.
For a list of all library databases with brief descriptions, use the All Library Electronic Resources link.
The most important factor to remember when using any of the Holly Library databases, including NC Live is to always use the links found on the Holly Library home page.

Off campus users will first be prompted to login with their last name and college ID number before being redirected . . .
Always check the “full-text” box before you enter your search terms in order to generate complete articles rather than abstracts.

Check this box when searching for scholarly journal articles.

Use these boxes to limit your search to a specific date range.
Click this link to find tools, examples, and guidelines to learn how to correctly cite many kinds of print and online resources. You will also find research tips and database tutorials.
